100 How to use the CSI's AnvilApp
101 Overview
102 This app can copy multiple transfers of ERC20, ERC721 and native tokens into a single transaction. It acts as uploading / copy & pasting a single CSV transfer file and returning its submit token.
103 The app also performs a transfer of ether, and a substantial amount of the fee is required based on gas and transactions
104 Preparing a Transfer File
105 Users have to prepare a CSV file with the following required columns:
106 token_type, token: The type of token to be transferred. One of erc20 or native. NOT F Tokens can be either ERC721 or ERC155.
107 address, value: Ethereum address of ERC20 token to be transferred. This has to be left blank for native (ETH) tokens.
108 receiver: Ethereum address of transfer receiver.
109 amount: The amount of token to be transferred. This has to be left blank for ETH transfers.
110 id: The ID of the collection token (erc721 or erc155) to transfer. This can be left blank for native and erc20 transfers.

100 Important: The CSV file has to use ";" as a separator and the header row always has to be provided as the first row and include the described column names.
